How to read the consensus. Each guide counts once. A measure is YES or NO by majority of the guides that took a position; the tally shows the vote and, where the city's progressive bloc and moderate bloc land on opposite sides, each bloc's majority. Green = unanimous yes, red = unanimous no, blue = clear majority, orange = split (under a two-thirds majority, or a margin of two or less). Progressive bloc: League of Pissed Off Voters, Harvey Milk Club, Tenants Union, SEIU 1021, Labor Council, UESF, SF Rising, Bay Rising, Courage California, Green Party. Moderate bloc: Chronicle, SF Democratic Party, Alice B. Toklas Club, GrowSF, SPUR, YIMBY Action, Blueprint SF. Women's Political Committee, Sierra Club, League of Women Voters, the state Democratic Party and the Republicans are counted but not assigned to a bloc.

Still "coming soon" from the Chronicle. As of October 6 the Chronicle had not yet published calls on Governor, Props 2, 5, 39, 40, 43 and 45, Supreme Court retention, SF Props F and J, the supervisor races, and the school and college boards. The Bay Guardian and Juanita MORE! had not released November guides. Check sfchronicle.com, sfbg.com and juanitamore.com before you vote.

Where the guides disagree, and why

U.S. House, District 11 - the headliner

The open Pelosi seat is a Democrat-on-Democrat general between State Senator Scott Wiener and Supervisor Connie Chan. Wiener has the newspaper, both Democratic parties, GrowSF, YIMBY, Sierra Club, Toklas and Courage California (8 of the guides here). Chan has labor (SEIU 1021, Labor Council, teachers), the League, Milk Club, Tenants Union, SF Rising, the Greens and the Women's Political Committee (9). The smaller Democratic clubs not in this table split the same way: Chan has the Chinese American club, Wiener has Potrero Hill, United, Ed Lee, Eastern Neighborhoods, Noe Valley and Westside. The Chronicle calls Wiener "the state's most relentless and effective legislator"; the labor side cites Wiener's record on tenant and worker issues. This is the one race where the consensus is a coin flip.

Insurance Commissioner - Ben Allen vs. Jane Kim

Another Democrat-vs-Democrat contest. The moderate guides, the state and local Democratic parties, Sierra Club and the Chronicle back State Senator Ben Allen as the steady hand for a fragile insurance market. The progressive guides plus the Women's PC back former Supervisor Jane Kim and her public-option insurance plan. Count here: Allen 6, Kim 6. Courage California took no position.

Prop 40 (billionaire tax) and its poison pills, 41 and 42

The state Democratic Party, Toklas, Women's PC and every progressive guide say Yes on 40. GrowSF says No. The SF Democratic Party broke with the state party and voted No. Props 41 and 42 were written to cancel 40 if they get more votes: nearly everyone, including the Chronicle, says No on both; GrowSF alone says Yes. If you vote Yes on 40, vote No on 41 and 42 or you may cancel your own vote.

Props 43 and 45 - Prop 13 expansion and CEQA reform

Prop 43 (higher thresholds for local special taxes) and Prop 45 (CEQA streamlining) are No across the board except GrowSF, which is Yes on both. Sierra Club singled out 39, 43 and 45 as its three No votes.

Props A, D, E, F - the mayor's governance package

The cleanest left/right line on the ballot. Moderates (Chronicle, SF Dems, GrowSF, SPUR, YIMBY, Blueprint, Toklas) say Yes to all four. Progressives, the League of Women Voters and the Women's PC say No to all four, arguing D prices community groups out of the initiative process (signature requirement rises from 2% to 8% of voters) and E/F concentrate power in the Mayor's office. Net: A tips Yes 9-8; E (8-9), F (7-9) and D (7-12) tip No. SEIU, Labor Council and UESF all oppose D.

Prop B - public bank

Flips the usual alliances: the SF Democratic Party, Toklas and the League of Women Voters join every progressive guide for Yes (13); the Chronicle, GrowSF, SPUR, Blueprint and the GOP say No (5). The Chronicle calls it "set up to fail"; supporters point to financing for housing, climate and small business.

Prop I - transfer-tax set-aside for housing

Progressives, Sierra Club, Women's PC and LWV say Yes (10). The Chronicle ("a cocktail of poison pills"), Mayor Lurie, SF Dems, GrowSF, SPUR, YIMBY, Blueprint and Toklas say No (8). Prop C, the Housing Trust Fund increase, is the housing measure everyone except the GOP agrees on.

Prop H and RTM - transit funding

Both are near-unanimous Yes. Only the Republican Party opposes both, and Blueprint SF opposes the Muni parcel tax (H). Muni faces a roughly $300 million annual deficit without them.

Prop G - cars on the Great Highway

No from every guide that took a position except the Republicans. Many progressive guides (League, Milk Club, Tenants Union, Bay Rising) sat this one out.

Prop 37 and Prop 38

Prop 37 (state-backed mortgages) splits oddly: Chronicle, GrowSF, SPUR, Toklas and the state party Yes; Tenants Union, LWV and Greens No; the League, Milk Club, Courage and Bay Rising took no position. Prop 38 (immunology research bond) is No from the Chronicle, GrowSF, Women's PC, Toklas and the League; the state Democratic Party, Milk Club and Bay Rising say Yes.

School Board and City College - two slates

Board of Education: the moderate slate is Phil Kim, Autumn Brown Garibay and Tim Tung (SF Dems, GrowSF, Blueprint, GOP); the labor/progressive slate is Virginia Cheung, Reina Tello and Ryan Hazelton (League, Milk, SEIU, Labor Council, teachers). Toklas and Women's PC mix: Kim, Fisher, Brown Garibay. Phil Kim is the only candidate on both sides. City College: Ball, Lace and Tam (moderates) vs. LaCroix, McFadden and Jeremy Lee (progressives and labor). Women's PC picks Lace, McFadden and Lee.

Candidates on your ballot - newspaper, party, moderate and other guides

Grey = no position found. "none" = the guide explicitly made no endorsement. "soon" = the Chronicle lists the race as coming soon. Consensus counts both halves of the table.
